

Epilogue

We at the Pacific Women's Golf Association know why we love golf. The scenery, the fresh air, the exercise, the camaraderie - all of these combined with the occasional great shot and the social 19th hole make golf our well-earned reward in a life of work and family obligations. It's that two or four hours when we don't have to worry about deadlines, budgets, parent-teacher meetings and what the heck are we going to cook for dinner.

But some of our friends who have expressed interest in golf say they don't have time. To them we say, yes, we know, women are busy, but even busy women need a break, so....

It's BETTER than a book club!

Chapter 1: Join a Club

Golfers in Northern California who want to establish a handicap will join a club that is an affiliate of either the Northern California Golf Association, the Women's Golf Association of Northern California or the Pacific Women's Golf Association.

We're the PWGA, which formed in 1947 to oversee and support women golfers at Northern California public courses. Today our clubs include not only the women's clubs at public courses, but many at-large clubs that play a variety of courses yet join the PWGA for its member benefits, including tournaments, events and play days. There's even an E-club!
